English Composition Exam

Please choose and write an English composition on only one of the following topics and do not forget to provide a title:

1. The ruling party along with our government has been mobilizing people to go to the street on March 26th in protest against the enactment of the Anti-secession Law by the Chinese communist government. If you were not taking an exam right now, would you have participated in the rally? Please write an essay supporting your stance in this issue.
2. Mahatma Gandhi (1869-1948) once said: "You must be the change you want to see in the world." Regarding the overall atmosphere of our society, what problems do you see and what role can young people like you play?
3. While in the past people who committed suicide were mostly those who were terminally ill or incapable of being financially viable, recently there have been more and more news reports about premature death among our youth in Taiwan. Please explain from your perspective the change in the suicide cases.
