Please answer the following questions in an essay form.

1. Discuss the role of L1 in the process of vocabulary acquisition among Taiwanese young learners of English. (25%)
2. The interlanguage research tradition has generated an abundance of knowledge about the development of learner language. Focus on the areas of morphology and syntax and explain learner language with respect to L2 competence and L2 development. (25%)
3. It has long been debated whether grammar instruction made contributions to correcting L2 learner mistakes in writing tasks. What is your stand on this issue? Support your viewpoints based on theoretical and practical grounds. (25%)
4. Motivation usually refers to “the desire to initiate L2 learning and the effort employed to sustain it” (Ortega, 2009). If you were to carry out a study to investigate the relationship between motivation and L2 language learning in a large size English class with more than 50 students, how would you design your research? Clearly state your Method. (25%)
